BALKANS ON THE ROAD OF EU INTEGRATION: IS THE EU STILL THE CENTER OF GRAVITY? - INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

Several states in the Balkan region have successfully joined the European Union, and many of those who have so far failed to join, have opened accession negotiations. However, in recent years, this process seems to be tiring in many ways, while serious players such as Russia have gained positions in the region. Fatigue is perceptible not only in the EU but also in the Balkan countries, and the question is raised whether the EU is still and, if so, how it serves as a reference. The event attempts to map out the political processes behind the phenomenon and to discuss the current status of negotiations with candidate states.
